Survivors of British Cruiser Hampshire Saw But Little.

London, June 16.—Details of some of the incidents on board the British cruiser Hampshire, just before she sank off the Orkney's last week causing the death of eight men, are given in an official statement issued tonight based on statements by the dozen survivors of the cruiser who were washed ashore on a raft.

"From the report of the twelve survivors of the Hampshire," says the statement, "the following conclusions were reached: 'As the men were going to their stations before abandoning the ship, Lord Kitchener, accompanied by a naval officer appeared, both ascended to the quarterdeck. Subsequently four military officers were seen there, walking aft on the port side. 'The captain called Lord Kitchener to the fore bridge near where the captain's boat was hoisted. The captain also called to Lord Kitchener to enter the boat. It is unknown whether Lord Kitchener entered it or what happened to any boat.'

Germans Fail in Their Assaults Upon the French Position.

(Special to The Herald)

Paris, June 16.—The repulse of numerous attacks delivered by the Germans on the Verdun front last night was reported by the French war office today. Assaults were delivered against the French position at Thiaumont farm, 1100 321, 1100 320 and in Caillotte wood. All the attacks broke down under the heavy artillery and machine gun fire of the French.

BRYAN GIVEN BIG OVATION

Democrats Renominate President Wilson and Vice President Marshall By Acclamation

St. Louis, June 16.—Woodrow Wilson was renominated for President of the United States by acclamation in the Democratic national convention here on Thursday evening at 11:52. A few minutes later Thomas H. Marshall was re-nominated for Vice President.

Thursday's session was a great joyification. It was a carefree crowd of delegates that met for the second session of the convention. As during Wednesday's session the first mention of the name of President Wilson brought forth a demonstration which lasted for the better part of fifteen minutes. Despite the seats the delegates poured around the hall, shouting, "Win with Wilson, Win with Wilson."

Rarely has there been a national convention so emotional, but its fervor was not for the Democratic party much less for President Wilson. On the contrary it was for an ideal that transcends politics and personalities and was more nearly a religious.

The plan of the Democratic leaders to present the Republican party as a war party in the campaign and to emphasize the service that the President has rendered in preserving neutrality and keeping the country out of war is now clearly in evidence. This will form the big issue of the campaign.

Without mentioning Roosevelt by name, Senator James clearly referred to him when he said in his speech that if the colonel had been President of the United States when the Lusitania was sunk, there would have

COL. ROOSEVELT IS WORSE

Too Ill to See Anyone at His Apartment in New York Hotel.

(Special to The Herald)

New York, June 16.—The condition of Colonel Roosevelt was considerably worse today. He had a bad night last night, coughing a great deal and this morning could hardly speak above a whisper. The colonel spent the night at the Hotel Langdon where he has been since he was taken ill two weeks ago.

The first thing this morning Mrs. Roosevelt notified the hotel authorities that the colonel was too ill to see anyone and that no one was to be allowed to go to his apartment.

MAKES ADDRESS ON PEACE

Von Bethmann-Hollweg, German Imperial Chancellor, Speaks Before the Reichstag.

(Special to The Herald)

Berlin, via Sayville, L. I., June 16.—Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor, addressed the Reichstag this afternoon on the question of peace declaring that Germany's position has never been so strong since the war began. His speech came unexpectedly during the third reading of the budget. "Six months ago I first spoke of our readiness for peace," he said, "basing my remarks upon the military situation as it existed then. I could do this confident that the situation created by the war would develop still further to our advantage. Events have justified this confidence. We have made further progress and we are now stronger on all front than we were before."

RUSSIANS HOLD CZERNOWITZ

It Is Believed By Military
Experts at Petrograd.

(Special to The Herald)

Petrograd, June 16.—Although no official announcement has been made of the capture of Czernowitz, the capital of Bukovina, by the Russians, military experts here believe that the city is already held by the Czar's troops. The southernmost Russian army which has pressed into Bukovina from Rumania has beaten the Austro-Hungarians back all along the Pruth river and Dniester rivers and even if Czernowitz has not fallen, the Russians have achieved a victory of the first rank. The fighting in Bukovina has been marked as elsewhere by the enormous number of prisoners and the great mass of booty captured by the troops of Gen. Brusiloff.

PLATFORM ADOPTED AFTER A STRUGGLE

Americanism Keynote of Principles of Democrats--Party Split Upon Question of Woman Suffrage

(Special to The Herald)

St. Louis, June 16.—A weary, worn, disheveled lot of Democrats, red-eyed and with hair awry, today completed the declaration of principles upon which Wilson and Marshall will demand their return to Federal power. The Democratic platform was born just as red dawn streaked through the window of the high council room where through the long night the resolutions committee of the convention had wrestled and struggled in the agony of its making.

The completed document came out of a night of dissension and struggle in which Democrats wrestled with Democrats over the detailed statement of political faith. The foreign relations of the country, the duties of alien citizens, the policy toward Mexico, all were put through the mill of partisan discussions and all provoked turmoil and strife, but the transcendent issue which split the party counselors and upon which earnest and sometimes violent debate centered, was the question of woman suffrage. Seldom has party councils faced an issue that provoked such bitter argument and when the committee by a narrow margin had reached a decision the partisans for and against suffrage were determined to fight out their differences on the floor of open convention.

"Americanism—the indivisibility and coherent strength of the nation"—was proclaimed the supreme issue of this day by the platform today submitted to the Democratic national convention as a declaration of party faith. Military and naval preparedness to "assist and demonstrate" this Americanism and a violent denunciation of "conspirators for the advancement of the interests of a foreign power," marked the strong planks of the platform.

A weary all night session of the resolutions committee that was a tumult of discussion, that at times became acrid, wrote the platform, but the committee was dominated, and controlled over by the long light strand of a telephone wire that stretched from the committee room to the White House. Every plank agreed to was read to President Wilson, the candidate of the party who sat at the telephone throughout the night. When the platform was completed it

Washington, June 16.—Officials here had become positive today in their belief that as soon as President Wilson's note refusing to withdraw American troops from Mexico is delivered to the Carranza government, Mexican Minister of War Obregon will openly break with Carranza and rise against all Americans. TOPOGRAPHIC MAPS SHOW EVERY FARMHOUSE

This is a regular agency for the sale of the topographic atlas sheets published by the United States Geological Survey. These maps are adapted to all the purposes of ordinary maps and besides contain much accurate information of local interest. They locate cities, towns, villages—even the smallest hamlets—and the more recently published maps give the accurate positions of the different dwelling houses. The courses of the rivers, creeks, and smaller streams are shown, also railroads, wagon roads, and county, state, and municipal boundary lines. The elevation or physical formation of the country is shown by brown contour lines. It is possible to tell by means of these lines the height above the sea of any point shown on the map or the difference in height between any two points. Distances from point to point by air line or along the roads, etc., can be easily measured on these maps.

MORLEY-K. OF C. GAME ENDS IN 2 TO 2 TIE

Darkness at the End of the Fifth Inning Causes Game to be Called Without a Victory for Either Team.

The Knights of Columbus and the Morley Hutton Company played a tie game last evening in the Sunset League, each team scoring two runs in the five innings. The game was called by Umpire McGraw who considered it too dark to continue the contest. The unpleasant weather made good baseball out of the question and errors figured in the scoring on two occasions. Moran fanned seven of the batters of the Knights team, Paul Bailey striking out six of his opponents. The game which had been expected to develop into a fast, interesting contest was spoiled by the cold and dark evening. The game CUB R.C. - .50 North's (15).

The Game
1st Inning.—McDonald walked, J. Timmons flied out to Bennett in right. Pilgrim beat out his infield hit to third. P. Timmons hit into a double play, flying to O'Brien; McDonald pulling a bone and crossing the plate instead of going back to second. ONE HIT, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

Wilkinson singled past McDonald, the ball taking a bad bound over his head. He stole second and came home on a bad throw by Hanlon to second. Moran fanning to free the ball in center. O'Brien took second and third on a wild pitch. Paul Bailey grounded out to P. Timmons, J. Bailey out at first on a grounder to McDonald. Kelly was safe on Pilgrim's bad throw of his grounder, the batter resting on second. McGraw called on a high foul fly to Hanlon. ONE HIT, THREE ERRORS, ONE RUN.

2d Inning.—Moran, Hanlon and Hanlon were fanned. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

Moran fanned. Sarotta flied to Moran in center. Bennett fanned. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

3d Inning.—Reardon singled and stole second, going third on Bailey's over throw on the bag. Hanlon flied to O'Brien. McDonald walked and stole second. J. Timmons walked, filling the bases. Pilgrim flied to Sarotta. P. Timmons singled past third, scoring Reardon. Moran grounded out to P. Bailey. TWO HITS, ONE ERROR, ONE RUN.

Wilkinson walked, and was caught napping. Hanlon to Hanlon. O'Brien fanned. P. Bailey flied to Hanlon with a line drive. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

4th Inning.—Hanlon singled, stole and took third on Bailey's error. Hanlon out at first. Sarotta flied to Wilkinson. Reardon fanned. Hanlon was passed.

INSPECTOR GENERAL SULLIVAN MAKES REPORT ON MILITIA

In his annual report of the annual inspection of the New Hampshire National Guard, Brig. Gen. William Sullivan of Manchester, Inspector General, says he is pleased to report a continued improvement in the instruction and general knowledge of the militia of the state. The improvement this year is most noticeable in the efficiency of the commissioned personnel. Company officers generally demonstrated that they were capable of maneuvering their units in an intelligent manner showing the perfect confidence which they have in themselves while in command of troops.

There were present for the inspection throughout the state 87 officers and 1,053 enlisted men of the total enrollment of 1,238 enlisted men and 39 officers.

The uniforms, arms and equipment was in a general good condition and the stores of the state arsenal in Concord he comments on as being in an excellent condition. The russet shoes add much to the appearance of the guard.

The company musicians, while they were generally fair in the knowledge and blowing of the bugle calls, did not display satisfactory knowledge in sending or receiving messages by means of the flag or semaphore.

"The general was particularly pleased with the excellent care given the rifles and says that the results obtained by the individual soldier carrying for and cleaning his rifle are by far the best, and this method should be adopted throughout the organizations in the state service. Where all the rifles are taken care of by a quartermaster-general or some other person designated to do the work, sufficient time cannot be given to the care of each rifle, and the result is consequently unsatisfactory.

Under the heading of "Findings and Recommendations" although nothing is said in regard to Company E, of Concord, reference is made to the other military organizations, Company C, as follows:

"The men generally were unfamiliar with the nomenclature of the rifle and the squad leaders were poorly informed regarding their duties."

Hundred Marriages at Oyster Bay Found to Be Invalid.

Glen Cove, N. Y.—The validity of over 100 marriages performed in the town of Oyster Bay during the past few months has been questioned, when it was learned last week at the meeting of the town board that Edward R. Summers, who has been acting as deputy town clerk, in the absence of Town Clerk Weeks, had not filed any credentials for office, nor taken the oath as provided by law. The town law states that only a regularly constituted town clerk or his deputy may give wedding licenses and sign them. Although Summers qualified for his first term of office, when he was appointed he did not take the oath nor file the credentials and the town board is of the belief that all licenses given by him, since his appointment are void.

If it is true that the licenses are illegal several hundred Oyster Bay men and women, although in after innocence, are living in violation of the law.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, June 16.—Four special committees representing fifteen denominations, two thousand churches and 94 per cent of the membership of the Protestant churches in Massachusetts have combined into one large social service commission in which three national social service secretaries resident in Boston regularly convene. The interest in social service work has increased rapidly in the past few years as shown in the consolidated work of all these great interests.

These special secretaries are working along the lines of industrial, rural, philanthropic and legislative problems and the regulation of the churches as a body to these questions. The social secretaries in charge of this great work are Rev. Henry A. Atkinson, Congregational; Prof. H. F. Ward, Methodist and Rev. Elmer S. Forbes, Unitarian. The committee on industrial problems of which Mr. Forbes is chairman, at its last meeting called attention to some of the probable effects on industrial relations that the termination of the war would bring to this country, and the committee was instructed by the commission to report a specific program that the churches might follow at the next meeting.

Secretary of Labor Wilson expresses the belief that congress will pass an appropriation bill by which $120,000 will be allotted to build a new immigration station at the port of Boston. He declared that immigration from Europe for quite a few years after the war would be negligible in comparison with the numbers who came here previous to 1914. A committee of various interests of the city has been called into consultation with the secretary of labor in regard to the new immigration station which is soon to be built.

The Harvard college faculty has called a halt on the students' preparedness program when it refused to sanction the plan for a summer school to instruct members of the Harvard Flying Corps in aviation. The faculty refused its permission to the flying corps committee for three reasons, the first of which was that aviation is too dangerous at present and that the university would not stand morally responsible for the death or injury of its students if they occurred at the summer school. The refusal of the faculty came after $10,000 had been raised among the alumni of Harvard for the aviation school. It was planned to open the instruction camp at Long Island during the coming summer vacation and more than 40 men had applied for permission to attend it.

The Eastern Yacht Club has issued invitations for its annual Gold Cup race on July 1. The start will be off Brenton's Reef Lightship at Newport, around Cape Cod to the finish off Marblehead Rock. Three classes will compete. The first division schooners of over 50 feet rating will compete for the $1,000 gold cup offered by Captain Harold S. Vanderbilt of the schooner yacht Vagrant. This cup becomes the permanent possession of the owner who wins it three times.

ROYALLY ENTERTAINED BY WASHINGTON'S CREW

Four Hundred Are Guests of Boys on the U. S. S. Washington at Their Concert and Informal Dancing Party Last Evening.

Fully four hundred guests were entertained last evening in Freeman's hall at a concert and informal dancing party given by members of the crew of the U. S. S. Washington; the hall having been decorated superbly from the entrance to the building to the highest point in the hall. The decorations consisted entirely of flags, the flags of the states of the United States and the nations of the world, signal flags of the navy and the national emblem. One large United States Ensign had been draped over the lower entrance of the building and a large electric sign in red, white and blue with the words "U. S. S. Washington" was hung over the street.

During the reception from 8:00 o'clock until 9:00 a fine concert program was rendered by Marden's ten piece orchestra, under the direction of the conclusion of the reception the first number of the dance order was begun and dancing enjoyed until the intermission.

One of the features of the decorations was an electric sign which automatically gave the letter of the dance corresponding with the letters on the order. After six dances had been completed the march was formed. This was led by Captain Benton C. Decker, U. S. N., commanding the Washington and Mrs. McDowell, followed by Lieutenant Commander McDuff, U. S. N., executive officer of the ship and Miss Decker, daughter of Captain Decker.

This march was one of the prettiest that has been held in the hall for some time and the several feature moves executed by the marchers called for much applause.

Each of the guests were presented with a souvenir in the form of a gun, hung from a button bearing the United States flag and the words U. S. S. Washington. The first ten ladies in the march were also presented with beautiful bouquets by the members of the crew.

During the intermission refreshments of ice and assorted cakes were served by the members of the several committees and dancing was again continued until an early hour in the morning.

The members of the crew in charge of the party had spared neither time nor expense in their efforts to make the affair its success and their work showed to advantage. The officers of the committee did all in their power to see that their guests enjoyed every moment of the evening, and they succeeded in a marked measure. Together with the guests from this city, officers from the yard, ships, army, and marine corps, there were about 600 present.

the Guaranty Trust Company, the National City Bank and the Russian government. The conditions of the loan are as follows:

The American banking group will establish in this country a credit of $50,000,000 to run for three years in favor of the Russian government. Simultaneously the Russian government will establish in Petrograd a credit of $50,000,000 roubles in favor of the American group, or at a fixed ratio of three roubles to $1. Interest on the credit arranged here at the rate of 6 1/2 per cent per annum will be paid by the Russian government in dollars in New York. The rouble credit may be used by the American group at any time at the rate of three roubles to $1.

Russian government further extends to the American group an option to purchase at any time within three-year period 5 1/2 per cent five-year at 9 1/2, less a commission, the bonds to run for five years for date of purchase, principal and interest payable in dollars in New York. Should the American group elect to exercise its option purchase price of these bonds may be paid with the rouble credit at rate three roubles for $1.

Unusual advantage of plan lies in prospect of exchange profits during existence of loan. Rouble exchange now rules in New York at about 31 cents per rouble, whereas the normal is 51 cents, or at present a discount of about 38 per cent.

The terms of the credit and option on the five-year bonds both provide against any possible loss in exchange and leave open the opportunity for profit if exchange advances, which is view of the present low rate, seems probable. If the American group should desire to make use of its rouble credit, it can, in effect at any time buy the use of 3 roubles in Russia for $1 here even though the rate of exchange may have improved from the Russian standpoint, so that $1 is worth substantially less than 3 roubles, and if the American group desires to exercise its option on the five-year Imperial Russian government bonds, at 9 1/2 it can pay for these bonds at the rate of $1 for 3 roubles. In other words, there is added to the exceptional rate of interest, and to the undoubted security of the loan, a speculative value in exchange, which it seems very likely from present prospects will accrue to the advantage of the American lenders.

The Russian government is to receive one half of the profits arising from the possible exchange profit in the rouble credit, which, under the circumstances, and with the prospect of this added profit, is only fair to the government.

A CARD FROM DR. NEAL

Any statement concerning my candidacy for Congress which has appeared in any form or place has been made without my authority.

I have never been a candidate for Congress. I am not at the present time a candidate for Congress.

If I conclude to become a candidate for Congress I shall make my own announcement.

Should I not become a candidate for Congress no statement from me or any other person is necessary.

The suggestion "that Dr. Neal does not care to enter a free-for-all" in my opinion, is idiotic; for under the primary system all contests are "free-for-all."

A STRONG CANDIDATE

Well-Known Berwick Citizen Candidate in the Maine Primaries for Judge of Probate for York County.

WILLIAM S. MATHEWS.

BRIEF SKETCH OF WILLIAM S. MATHEWS— HIS EMINENT FITNESS FOR THE JUDGESHIP

What Judge Christopher H. Wells, Editor of the Somersworth (N. H.) Free Press, writes and has printed in his paper, unsolicited, concerning the candidacy of Mr. Mathews, who has practiced many years before Judge Wells, in the Probate Court, in Strafford County, N. H.

A candidacy which is of much interest to the people of this section of New Hampshire, as well as to those of York County, Maine, is that of William S. Mathews, Esq., of Berwick, for the position of judge of probate for York County to succeed Judge Nathaniel Hobbs, who, on account of his advanced age, does not seek re-election.

Although Mr. Mathews is a loyal son of Maine and a devoted citizen of Berwick, proud of its history and deeply interested in its welfare, yet his law office and many of his extensive business interests are in Somersworth, and he has a large law practice in Strafford and Carroll counties as well as in his home county of York.

Years ago Mr. Mathews' name was mentioned in connection with the probable judgeship, and it was conceded that when Judge Hobbs should retire from the position he (Mr. Mathews) would surely receive the election by reason of his eminent fitness for the office and his standing in the county as a lawyer, a Republican, and a man. During the years since nothing has occurred to weaken his fitness for the office. Indeed he has grown riper in experience, maturer in judgment, better equipped than ever for probate work.

Mr. Mathews is a native of Berwick and was born in that town April 2, 1856. His father was Horatio N. Mathews, also a native of Maine and a stone mason by trade, who built the Whiteback Lighthouse in Portsmouth Harbor and did a great deal of other construction for the United States government. He also put in the foundations for some of the cotton mills here—massive masonry, like the strong, rugged character of the man himself.

Lady A. Spencer, mother of the subject of this sketch, was a native of Berwick. The second conveyance recorded in the York County Registry of Deeds was to a Spencer, one of her ancestors. There are no better families in York County than the Mathews and Spencer families. It is an interesting fact that the American progenitors of these two families came over with Mason's company in the ship Warwick, landing at Portsmouth, then known as Strawberry Bank, in 1630. Since then descendants of these two families have figured prominently in the affairs of Southwestern Maine.

At eighteen years of age the boy was running a forge for the Cocheco Manufacturing Company at Dover and helped make parts of many of the looms used in what was then known as the new mill, for the mills made their own looms in those days.

In October, 1874, young Mathews left the forge and, availing himself of all the educational facilities which the schools of his native town afforded, he then attended schools in Boston until 1882, when he took up the study of law with Copeland and Edgerly and was admitted to the bar in January, 1887. Mr. Copeland, then a leading lawyer, died a few months before, and his plans for making Mr. Mathews a partner necessarily were broken, but a law partnership with the surviving partner, James A. Edgerly, was formed which continued until 1902. Mr. Mathews practiced law alone until January 1, 1905, when he took Sidney F. Stevens in as a partner, and the firm of Mathews & Stevens is a well-known one throughout this section.

Mr. Mathews early took an interest in politics, not in a narrow, but in a broad and wholesome way, as a firm believer in Republican principles. He was a representative to the State Legislature in 1893, and during his term of service in that body he was a member of the committee on legal affairs and other important committees.

Serving as a county attorney from 1895 to 1902 Mr. Mathews made a notable record. An unusual number of murder cases happened during those years, seven in all, and the burden of preparation fell upon him. Two of these cases he tried alone. In one there were 64 witnesses and the counsel for defense comprised two of the strongest lawyers in York county. Yet convictions were secured in these as in other cases, his administration of the office being characterized by marked ability and untiring energy.

Mr. Mathews has been a member of the York County Republican Committee for over twenty years, and for more than fifteen years he has been a member of the executive committee. He was recently re-elected chairman. The value of his services in these capacities has been fully recognized by Republicans throughout the county. He has been a director of the Somersworth National Bank for many years.

A fact that ought to weigh much with the voters of York County with reference to the probate judgeship is that Mr. Mathews has had a large and varied probate practice, not only in York County, but also in Strafford County as well, and it has given him a wide acquaintance with the principles of probate law and the business principles so intimately associated with them.

Moreover, Mr. Mathews is unassuming and approachable. He has ready sympathy and no worthy cause fails to receive encouragement at his hands. He has the business qualifications that are so much needed in passing upon probate administration and accounts, and he has the patience and level-headedness to hear all sides and then act wisely.

As showing how the labor element looks upon his candidacy the following article from the Maine Labor Press is of interest:

Prominent among the members of the York County Bar must be mentioned William S. Mathews of Berwick. Well versed in all matters pertaining to law, it is his belief that the interests of the entire State are best served by bringing about a friendly feeling between capital and labor and between employer and employee. Holding fast to these convictions, he has refused to be led into the extremes in either direction because of heated statements of those disappointed at not gaining in some particular end. Which might be in one case over radical and in the other ultra conservative. Mr. Mathews has become very popular among those that know his views and of the rank and file of those members of the labor movement who have come in contact with him. Mr. Mathews is a candidate in the June primaries on the Republican ticket for Judge of Probate of York County, and there is no question but that he will receive the loyal support of the wage earners.

It is safe to say that the voters of York County will roll up a fine vote for Mr. Mathews in the primaries next week, and those who give him their support will certainly never have reason to regret it.

GIRLS WILL ATTACK STORY TOLD BY JOSEPHINE DAVIS

Waukegan, Ill., June 15.—Lake Forest high school girls, members of the "eighteen bunch" and chums of Marion Lambert, came to Will Orpet's trial for Marion's murder today, ready to controvert the testimony of Josephine Davis that Marion was despondent on her 15th birthday.

Josephine was an outcast among the "bunch" after her former stigma was laid to rest by her testimony.

The "bunch" was ready to tell the jury that Marion did cry a little bit at her birthday party—four days before she was found dead in Helms' woods—but that this was because one of the party couldn't spend the night at Marion's home, and that the crying spell was brief and followed by laughter.

Mary Marshall and Vernie Jackson were expected to be the first of the girls called to the stand. They were to follow chemists, giving technical testimony.

Significance attached by counsel for Orpet to questions regarding the glove she was found dead in Helms' woods—beside Marion's body, prompted the theory today that the defense counts on these two articles to clear Orpet.

It was hinted today that the defense would seek to show that analysis of Marion's glove and handkerchief would show traces of cyanide of potassium, indicating that Marion had brought the poison to Helms' woods herself.

First "footprint evidence" was introduced today when Fred Wainbas, Lake Forest undertaker, who examined Marion's body, took the stand. He said he had been called to Helms' Woods a few minutes after the girl's body was found in a snowdrift by her father.

"I saw footprints in the snow" and traced them," he said. "They led from the woods and I followed them about 50 feet. Entrance into the woods was made by the same way leave was taken. Whoever it was had traveled back over the footprints in the snow, only he did not walk backwards."

Taking Needless Chances.

That the leading railroads are trying to impress upon their employees the necessity of "safety first" is an encouraging sign. This movement is not for the protection of passengers, for which everything possible has been done for years, but for the protection of the employees themselves. There are too many of these who take needless risks while in the performance of their duties, and the effort on the part of the companies to correct this bad habit is to be commended.

A leading eastern railroad has just posted a bulletin calling the attention of its station and yard employees to several accidents, some of them fatal, caused by taking what are very properly termed "unnecessary chances." A brakeman in kicking a coupling that did not work right suffered the fracture of an ankle in two places. One man lost his life by trying to get upon the front footboard of a switch engine when it was going four miles an hour, and the bulletin cites several other accidents all of which could have been avoided by reasonable care.

Railroading is a dangerous occupation at the best, and it is proper that the men should be trained and required to exercise the utmost care in safeguarding themselves and their fellow workmen at all times.

One of the characteristics of this age is the practice of taking unnecessary chances in practically all things. There is a foolish notion abroad that to be afraid of anything is a sign of cowardness and weakness. Too many regard foolhardiness as bravery, but it is nothing of the sort. The brave man will face danger knowing what he is doing and what he is doing it for. Firemen, policemen, and railroad men under some circumstances do this and are to be highly commended for it. But there is nothing brave or courageous in getting on or off trains or trolley cars when they are in motion, in crossing streets carelessly when automobiles are flying in both directions or in passing over railroad crossings just ahead of approaching trains. These and many other forms of recklessness are in evidence every day. The man who shows a disposition to look carefully after his personal safety is deemed a coward or an old fogey. The result is numberless accidents and many deaths that might well have been avoided.

There is no necessity for this carelessness and no good excuse for it. It is a result of the feverish life that has seized upon the people in an age notable for rapid-fire in all things, and so long as the practice continues the number of needless accidents and deaths will continue to multiply. It is high time to acknowledge that reasonable care for one's personal safety is not an evidence of timidity.

It is not strange that the German and British accounts of the great naval battle in the North Sea do not agree in all respects. Ever since the war began the people of this country have had to make allowance for the sources from which the news has come. There has been not only much censoring, but a good deal of coloring. And from all sources red has been and continues to be the predominating shade.

Before it adjourned the New York legislature received petitions from the convicts in the state prisons in favor of state-wide prohibition. But would these men respect a prohibitory law after regaining their liberty? The situation reminds one of the old couplet: "When the devil was sick the devil a monk was he," but when the devil was well the devil a monk was he."

Some of those who arrived early in Chicago for the convention were surprised and disgusted to find the city "dry" on Sunday. But it is probable that while the highways to the "founts" were not so straight and broad as might have been desired, "leaks" were discovered sufficient to "rescue the perishing."

Government treasury officials are hoping the year will end with a surplus. The outcome may depend somewhat on their success in running down income tax dodgers, who are reported to be very numerous. Yet it is to be presumed that many of them are splitting their lungs in shouting for preparedness.

The railroads of the country are prosperous. It could not be otherwise at a time when business is booming as it is now. Without doubt this is the chief reason for the large demands of the employees, who evidently believe in the old saying that the time to make hay is when the sun shines.

The "Christian" nations of Europe are very diligently and earnestly doing to others what they would not have others do to them.

Less than three weeks to the Glorious Fourth. On with the preparations.

PEOPLE and THINGS

The news of the death of Police Officer Frank H. West which occurred several days ago removes one of the nearest, most robust looking, efficient officers of the local force. To those who knew Officer West intimately he was a whole-souled and true friend. Considering that his intimates knew that he had been suffering greatly for several years and yet maintained a pleasant smile, one can only regard him as a martyr to duty. As we meet each other daily here in Portsmouth one hardly knows the actual mental feeling of one another. One is apt to feel sometimes that certain individuals are cool and without a grain of sympathy in their makeup yet when one gets next to this same individual he finds him a genial and whole-souled person. Officer West will be missed by hundreds of friends who loved and respected him.

It has been suggested in The Herald from time to time that local merchants and others should get closer to the surrounding country and cooperate with Hampton, York and other towns. At the meeting of the Board of Trade at Hampton on Wednesday this suggestion made by the writer to his remarks called forth most hearty applause. Portsmouth is not grasping the opportunities at hand.

There was a pleasant meeting between St. John's Lodge of Boston and St. John's Lodge of Portsmouth on Wednesday evening that brought here to Portsmouth many former sons. Some of them had not been here for years. They were glad to get back to Portsmouth and many of our local people were delighted to see them. Judge Page made a most entertaining toastmaster and his remarks provoked much laughter. It was an evening of unbounded pleasure and there should be more of these gatherings.

A meeting has been called to take action on a Fourth of July celebration here of considerable magnitude. Portsmouth should take the lead in such matters, and there ought to be a regular committee to take up this work each year. The expense is not very much and can be met by public spirited citizens.

The Hotel Wentworth opens on the 22d. A visit to that immense hotel on Thursday found a regular army of painters, machinists, and cleaners from one end of the property to the other, all under the personal direction of Manager Priest. The lye selection have made an effort, without any material result, to improve the roadway. They should give it further attention.

The road from Faye's Corner via Galloway's Point has been closed by the State for permanent construction. A large force of men are at work on a permanent state highway. This will prove a very popular drive when the work is completed.

The Hon. Horace Mitchell of Kittery has gone into the home town of his son and is doing effective battle. In Sanford he has addressed the working men in no mistaken terms. The general opinion is that he will be nominated on Monday next by a big majority. He has made a thorough canvass and York County will give him a big vote.

The weather the past three weeks has certainly been disappointing to our summer bachelors, but they are not discouraged, and are going on with preparations for a big rush starting in next week. There is nothing that would stop the people coming to this section during July and August.

The rain has interfered with the Sunset League Schedule to the extent that it will be necessary to play double-headers before the season closes. It is contemplated to start one of the games at 5 o'clock. This should prove of interest and give the sport-loving public more for their money. Announcement will be made as soon as the games are arranged.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Helen Frances Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Washington in Portsmouth on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Daniel Frishes, who has been visiting friends at North Kittery, has returned to her home at Kittery Point. A large number of grammar school pupils took the entrance examinations

CURRENT OPINION

The United States in the beginning of 1911 was moving toward the position of an industrial and financial world power. The advent of the war precipitated this development with unparalleled rapidity and to an unprecedented degree. As a result our evolution from a mere agricultural and borrowing community into a great agricultural, industrial and lending power has been completed.

While our own economic status has thus been established, the wealthiest countries of Europe have been destroying their saving power at the rate of approximately eighty-five million dollars a day.

The present world crisis has brought home to South America most forcibly the necessity of never again being found dependent exclusively upon the ships, credit or good will of Europe to reach their markets.

They feel themselves at one with us in this respect, for it is for our own protection as well as theirs that the Stars and Stripes must fly over a mercantile fleet large enough to insure the independence of the trade of this hemisphere.

They, furthermore, trust our own financial emancipation will be an important factor in securing greater financial independence to them.—By Paul M. Warburg, of Federal Reserve System.

The Ladies' Aid met on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Ira Keene of Locke's Cove and was pleasantly entertained. A pleasing program was given consisting of readings by Mrs. Eliza Cochran and selections on the piano and violin by Mrs. J. Harold Chick and her sister, Miss Edna Peterson of South Portland, respectively. Refreshments of fruit punch and fancy cakes were served. The hostesses were Mrs. Keene, Mrs. L. A. Madrox and Mrs. Rena Sweet.

Miss Lillian E. Goodrich of Rogers road, and Mrs. Richard Burnham of Friend street, have returned from Ogunquit and Kennebunk, where they have been visiting friends.

The grammar schools in town closed this afternoon for the summer vacation.

This evening the last meeting of the Phobes for the season will be held in the vestry of the Second Christian church. A large attendance is requested.

The Ladies' Circle was pleasantly entertained on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Abbie Edward of Locke's Cove. Mrs. Lea Bray of Olds Avenue, passed Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Fred Leavitt of East Eliot.

An enjoyable social was given at the Second Christian church vestry on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and strawberries were served.

There was a large attendance at the drama given on Thursday evening at the First Methodist church, North Kittery.

PEOPLES' OPINION

A Very Bad Sidewalk

Editor: While the department of public works is engaged in new sidewalk work it seems that some attention should be given to the sidewalk on Arlington street fronting the Gale shoe shop. It would be good judgment on the part of the city company to interest itself as well as the public works and have something done by the way of repairs. This sidewalk has been in a wretched condition for several years and is allowed to go from bad to worse until it has reached a point where it is not safe for travel and people are obliged to either walk in the highway or on the opposite side of the street.

CASS STREET.

The inevitable. The Germans had taken New York; for three days the soldiers of the Kaiser guarded the streets; the city was at a standstill.

The American army had dug in somewhere in Jersey, when the crown prince, with a party of his officers, visited Wall Street.

Two hours later American brokers held a controlling interest in the German Occupation Corporation preferred and the country was safe.—Life.

adds: "A new menace to Chicago's young people is shown to have assumed startling proportions. A report by the Juvenile Protective Association covers increasingly lax conditions in public dance halls, shocking immorality on Lake Michigan steamboats and demoralizing activities and conduct in and near some of the commercialized amusement parks, to which editorial reference was made in The Survey for May 6.

"The extraordinary spread of cabarets in saloons in the new danger to which the report calls attention. In a year or two, starting in the big saloons which had vacant space or a big room at the rear, and hired professional entertainers, it has extended to hundreds of smaller saloons whose proprietors feel that they must do something to meet the competition, even if they are able only to install a few tables, hire a waiter and engage a young woman to sing or dance.

"It is not required of these girls that they should sing well or be especially proficient in dancing," says the report. "They are put in cabarets in order that they may drink with the patrons and the girl who is the most valuable is the one who is able to induce a customer to order the largest number of drinks."

The Iowa voter had an object lesson near at hand as to how suffrage really works. The saloon ridden towns just across the river in woman suffrage Illinois showed him how much confidence could be placed in the oft-repeated suffrage statement that woman suffrage does away with saloons. How it "improves moral conditions," is shown in the extraordinary spread of cabarets in saloons which has come about since Chicago women got the vote.

"When a girl applies for a position in a cabaret it is not uncommon for the manager to make improper proposals to her and to refuse to give her a position if she will not accede to his demands. One decent young woman who sings well and has been employed in various cabarets has given up her occupation, stating as her reason that no self-respecting woman would sing the songs or commit the acts now required of her by the management. In the majority of the cabarets the girl singer is only used as a lure for the men.

"It is commonly stated that the police, without whose connivance, it would be impossible of course to carry on many of the features at present to be found in cabarets, not only exact the usual free drinks, but insist upon privileges with the cabaret entertainments. These cabarets are now by city ordinance forbidden to sell drinks after 1 o'clock in the morning, which they interpret as a law applying only to the bar, and cabaret singers are required to be on duty between 1 and 5 o'clock in the morning. In some of the larger places they run three shifts of girls—one from afternoon until about 3 o'clock, one from 3 until 2 o'clock and the third until morning.

"It is very usual, unfortunately, to see girls of these cafes who have become intoxicated, and who are guilty of humiliated actions of which they would be incapable were they not under the influence of liquor. Many of the songs sung by the entertainers are obscene.

In these cabarets "literally thousands" of young people—young boys as well as girls—thus make their first acquaintance not only with public drinking but with disreputable characters.

It is such evils as these as the Chicago Tribune has pointed out, which it was supposed the direct political power of women would clean up. But it is these women have had this direct political power that these evils have arisen.

LOST TORPEDO OFF COAST

The battleship Delaware came out into Ipswich bay from Rockport on Tuesday morning for torpedo practice and returned to her anchorage in the late afternoon minus one of these death dealing instruments, all of which means that Secretary Daniels' department at Washington is $7500 poorer from the day's work as this is the sum that each of the great Whitehead torpedoes cost.

The battleship was maneuvering in a general direction, broad off the Newburyport harbor. The towing target was seaward and two torpedoes were fired at about a two-minute interval. By means of the mechanism on every torpedo they can be sent out at any under-water depth, and in addition the gas exhaust causes numerous bubbles which allow the officers and men to follow the trail of the torpedo.

Tuesday, however, it was rather "hubbly" off-shore, and in addition the work of the officers and men of the Delaware were hampered by a mist, so that after the torpedoes were shot out of the tubes one was traced located and recovered all right, but the second must have taken a dive and is now resting easily on the bottom in 37 fathoms of water.

In naval practice torpedoes have been lost before from ships. In some cases recovered, and in one instance being washed up on a beach by the undertow. However, should anyone happen to run across the one lost, it might be well to state that Uncle Sam will gladly reward anyone who discovers a torpedo which is away from its ship without leave of absence.

IMPROVING THE BEACH ROADWAY

The highway leading from Broadway at Salisbury beach to Hampton river bridge is to be widened seven feet its entire length. Engineers have been at work mapping out the work and either the latter part of this or the first of next week crews of workmen will begin work.

Last winter the town selectmen deemed this extension necessary and at the town meeting the necessary money to carry it out was appropriated.

Present plans call for the work to be completed about the time the regular beach season opens.

A new water system was laid in this street a year ago and considerable repaving was done, but today there are some sections of the highway which demand immediate attention. Not only will the street be widened but it will also be resurfaced. In some places the roadbed will be reconstructed.

FIGHTS FOR HIS PLANK

President Wilson Makes Determined Stand for Americanism.

Washington, June 16.—Word that St. Louis Democratic leaders favored modifying President Wilson's Americanism plank to make its denunciation of political activities by foreign-born citizens less specific, brought an emphatic declaration from the White House last night that the President would not consent to such a change under any circumstances. The President's position was made unmistakably clear to his personal advisers at the convention by telephone and telegram.

It was said at the White House that the President was so strongly determined to make a platform declaration on the point which would raise a clear cut issue that, if possible, opposition developed, he might ask the convention to remain in session until he could go to St. Louis and make a personal appeal to the delegates.

Two hours later the President's representatives in St. Louis telephoned him assuming that the plank would be adopted exactly as approved at the White House, and that action on the platform would be taken before the adjournment for the night.

An information booth is greatly needed at the Boston and Maine railroad station in this city, especially during the summer months. Here's Relief for Tender, Hot, Swollen, Aching, Ill-Smelling, Sweaty Feet and Chilblains.

Two and other disagreeable and uncomfortable ailments are due to either an unhealthy condition of the skin or poor circulation. The use of Dr. Scholl's Footdok brings quick relief and comfort.

This is a thoroughly reliable, economical and convenient treatment that has proved its merits perhaps millions of times.

It comes in the form of a tablet which is dissolved in the foot-bath, making a solution that draws the poisonous matter from the pores and replaces it with soothing, cooling and healing medicinal properties. The pores and skin glands are cleaned, irritation and tenderness disappear, circulation is stimulated and an instant feeling of relief and comfort manifests itself.

We carry the complete line of Dr. Scholl's foot-dressers and travel kit and can give you accurate advice on how to obtain foot comfort.

TROOPS ROUT BANDIT FORCE NEAR BORDER

Two American Soldiers Killed and Seven Wounded in Clash on American Side of Line, Forty Miles From San Ignacio.

Laredo, Texas, June 15.—Two American soldiers have been killed and seven wounded in a fight with Mexican bandits 40 miles down the river from San Ignacio, according to reports brought here today.

The fight took place on the American side, the Americans engaged, according to latest reports, being troops 1 and 2 of the 14th cavalry, under Maj. Gray, a total of about 140 men. The bandits, numbering more than 100, are said to have lost six killed and several wounded.

Names Not Reported

The names of the dead soldiers were not reported to military headquarters at Fort McIntosh for the reason that immediately after the attack the two troops of cavalry started in pursuit of the Mexicans. It was taken for granted here that Maj. Gray would pursue the bandits until they crossed into Mexico and that it would not be surprising if the Americans should follow the "hot trail" across the river.

It was impossible to learn anything of the identity of the Mexicans here other than they were merely "bandits." Those killed and wounded were dressed in peon garb, but were exceptionally well armed.

Other troops of cavalry have been ordered in readiness to proceed to the San Ignacio section either to assist or to relieve Maj. Gray's command.

Word reached here later that one of the wounded American soldiers shot through the head had died. The latest information says that eight of the Mexicans were killed and 42 horses captured in the pursuit. Col. Brown has requested county officials to warn all Mexicans in ranches near here to get away from the river.

Like Big Bend Country

The section of the border country in which the San Ignacio fight took place is similar to the Big Bend country, where six weeks ago Mexican bandits raided Bouquillas and Glenn Springs. San Ignacio about 40 miles southeast of Laredo, is a small settlement about a mile from the Rio Grande, whose population is principally Mexican. A narrow road, used chiefly by wagon trains, is the only avenue of communication.

Washington, June 15.—Evidence in the hands of administration officials tending to show gradual disintegration of the Carranza de facto government continued to pile up today.

This evidence was contained in consular reports to the state department and private advice to members of the army general staff from officers and civilians in Mexico. All these messages, carrying reports of shaky economic conditions, led officials to believe that the next few weeks may see developments which will spell either a complete crumbling of the Carranza government or a decided change for the better.

Officials today believe the "best chief" of the government is now passing through its most difficult period.

Coincident with reports on economic conditions are other reports which cause optimism among war department officials. The officials declare that while sporadic attacks on the punitive expedition still remain a possibility they have no real anxiety over safety of any troops now below the border. The troops, it is confidently believed, can take care of themselves.

2000 Refugees Now at Juarez

El Paso, Tex., June 15.—Two thousand and refugees, including four Americans, are in Juarez today, having removed from Chihuahua and the district around Torreon. The Americans declare famine conditions prevail around Torreon, and that the civil population would welcome any measure that would relieve them from the dangers of starvation. The newest issue of Carranza currency, they say, is without purchasing power.

Canuto Reyes and Jose Isabel Robles, former Villa followers, who made their peace with the de facto government, are reported to have again revolted, and, with a number of Carranza officers, declare they will not oppose the Americans.

Reply to Mexico Now Completed

Washington, June 15.—Secretary Lansing laid before President Wilson today the completed draft of a note to Gen. Carranza, replying to the demand that American troops be withdrawn from Mexico. The President and Mr. Lansing conferred at length on the situation.

Unless some new development forces the situation the reply will not be sent until next week at the earliest. President Wilson and his advisers are anxious to deal with the Carranza note in such fashion that action cannot be attributed to domestic politics.

As prepared by Secretary Lansing, it is understood the note fully declines to withdraw American troops from Mexico until the de facto government has shown both its willingness and its ability to police the border states properly.

It also is said to make sharp rejoinder to suggestions of the Mexican communication which officials regard as discourteous and uncalculated. Carranza questioned the good faith of the Washington administration and openly hinted that President Wilson has his eyes on the American political situation in dealing with the situation beyond the border.

Carranza's request for a new statement of the intentions of the United States toward Mexico probably will be complied with. It is understood how over, that the declaration will be so named that the de facto government can have no doubt that the United States government regards such a request as wholly unnecessary in view of all previous utterances of President Wilson, the acts of his administration and the behavior of the troops now beyond the border. It will be pointed out that a friendly spirit constantly has been manifested towards Mexico, and Carranza will be told that failure of Mexican and American troops to cooperate for the extermination of bandits was due to the hostility and suspicion exhibited by the Mexicans.

been 500,000 American soldiers on the battle line at Verdun today. The delegates yelled for the permanent chairman to name Roosevelt but he declined to do so.

The President's flag day speech in which he referred to those "alien sympathizers who are trying to levy a species of political blackmail on the American government and whose disloyalty must be absolutely crushed," created much discussion here, and it is likely that a direct reference will be made in the platform to the hyphenated citizens.

It is felt that in this speech the President took a square stand against the hyphens and that it cannot fail to attract the support of the Progressives, since his attitude is identical with that taken by Colonel Roosevelt.

A great speech from William Jennings Bryan, in which he declared that Woodrow Wilson had broken the power of Wall street in politics, came as a climax to the Democratic national convention, making an even greater impression than the nominating speech of John W. Westcott.

"For years 100 men in Wall street have controlled elections in this country," he said. "The administration of Woodrow Wilson has broken the power of Wall street forever and restored the government to the hands of the people."

Bryan got a tremendous reception, when shortly after the final session of the convention was called, he mounted the platform at the invitation of Chairman James. There were a few noes, but they were lost in the volley of ayes that came from the convention when suspension of the rules was voted to allow him to speak.

At Mr. Bryan's entry men sprang to their feet and cheered at sight of his tattered crown and black alpaca coat, for again he was in alpaca, as he was on that other summer day 20 years ago when fame overtook him.

The most significant development of the entire convention was the tremendous reception given to the pacifist leader in his utterances for peace.

At the opening of his speech Bryan recalled that it was just 20 years since in the convention of 1896 he made his first speech in a Democratic national convention.

He said that whatever differences had existed between him and the President, they were forgotten in this great national campaign.

The Democratic party is united today as it has never been before in its history, said he.

Bryan pictured Wilson as that great courageous leader of the Democracy, who, in the face of the most bitter criticism ever levelled at a President since the time of Lincoln, has kept the peace and honor of the nation.

The convention cheered repeatedly when he said that the people of this country owed a tremendous debt of gratitude to Wilson for the stand he had taken in the prevention of war.

Bryan said he "joined the American people in thanking God that they had a President who did not want war."

FASTIDIOUS "LADY LOU" A STYLISH CIRCUS GIRL

Barnum & Bailey Show Carries Elephant Modiste

"My modiste tells me they're wearing 'em shorter than ever this season girl."

Thus speaks the fastidious "Lady Lou" to her neighbors after returning from a "fitting" of a new and gorgeous gown. Her neighbors—fourty of 'em, mostly girls—shake their heads sadly and make strange noises, signifying disapproval of this latest decree of Dame Fashion.

"Lady Lou" and her forty neighbors comprise the elephant herd of the Barnum & Bailey circus, but it is doubtful if the much pampered pachyderms of India who participate so extensively in the famous Dinkar possess any more costly or gorgeous wardrobe than do these elephants who appear in the wonderful spectacle and processions of the "greatest show on earth," which is to exhibit in Portsmouth on July 31st.

The elephant modiste who designs and prepares these wonderful robes has quite an extensive job on her hands, and it keeps her busy most of the time, for, like all big people, elephants are a bit of a fuss about their wardrobes and are always in need of repairs.

The measuring of an elephant for a new robe is quite a difficult task in itself, generally requiring the services of at least two assistants and a stepladder. The amount of cloth required to drape a fastidious pachyderm would be enough to make gowns for at least ten women, and the amount of sewing work on a single elephant dress would stagger the average modiste, unless she was paid for her services by the hour.

There is one woman with the Barnum & Bailey circus who does nothing else but make and care for the elephant robes. In the winter time she designs and prepares the costumes and during the summer months, while the circus is on the road, she travels with the show and packs and unpacks the wardrobe and attends to all necessary repairs. She knows every elephant by name, and is a great favorite with the herd.

Elephants are naturally proud animals and they are exceedingly fond of bright colors and brilliant display. They enjoy being "dolled up" in their gorgeous trappings, and they never resent being measured for new gowns. In the Barnum & Bailey street parade and in the spectacle procession, the elephants are one of the principal features, busman as the herd is the largest in captivity. There are three trunks of wonderful performing elephants who also appear in the acrobatic performance. The entire herd appears in the new, Oriental spectacular display "Persia or the Pageants of the Thousand and One Nights," which opens each performance.

AMERICANS CAN COMPETE WITH OTHER MANUFACTURERS

Washington, D. C., June 16.—Proof of the ability of the American manufacturer to compete with foreign manufacturers was presented in a graphic manner to the National Hardware Dealers' Association at Boston yesterday in the course of an address by Dr. Edward Irving Pratt, Chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, of the Department of Commerce.

In order to show that the American manufacturer has the advantage of his foreign competitor not only in quality of goods, not only in finish, but also in price, Dr. Pratt displayed side by side samples of hardware manufactured in Germany, France, England, Holland, and the United States. Among the articles shown were hammers, wrenches, curry combs, rakes, razors, saws, axes, handles, knives, etc.

The speaker had with him about twenty foreign-made samples of hardware which had been collected by commercial attaches in many countries. He had then obtained duplicates or as near duplicates as possible of American manufacture, tools which were almost identical or which were designed to do exactly the same kind of work. He had the wholesale and retail prices of each article. The American manufacturer who is reluctant to go into foreign trade because he does not think he can compete in price with the foreign manufacturer was told that in almost every case the advantage in price was in favor of the American manufacturer. Dr. Pratt urged that this was of the very greatest importance to our foreign trade and that American manufacturers, and particularly manufacturers of hardware, may look forward to great opportunities in foreign fields and need not fear underselling on the part of their foreign competitors when normal conditions are again restored.

A typical comparison made by the Chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce was that of wrenches. He brought forward an English-made wrench and compared it with an American model designed to do exactly the same type of work. The wholesale price of the English wrench was 56 cents and the American wrench, which was a much better made and more conveniently designed tool, wholesaled at 68 cents. The English wrench if imported into Brazil would have to pay 35 cents duty, the American wrench only 21 cents duty. The American wrench could, therefore, be placed in the hands of the Brazilian importer at 89 cents, while the English wrench would cost the same importer $1.31.

Dr. Pratt also exhibited a French wrench which wholesaled at 75 cents and compared with it a much better made American wrench for the same class of work which wholesaled at 59 cents. Obviously one of the cheapest made articles which he exhibited was a buckaw manufactured in Europe wholesaling at 42 cents. Many an American manufacturer would probably throw up his hands and declare it was impossible to manufacture such an article to sell at a lower price. One American manufacturer has done it, however, and a buckaw of better quality, of stronger material, and of better design, sells wholesale at only 35 cents.

Three hay knives were also exhibited—one of German manufacture, one of English manufacture, and one of American manufacture. The English made knife weighed 3 1/2 pounds, was of very crude design and sold wholesale at $1.33; the German-made knife was very cumbersome, weighing 10 pounds, wholesaled at $1.55; the American-made knife, which was not only better constructed but a more efficient tool, weighed only 4 pounds and sold at wholesale for $1.30 per dozen.

"I hope that I have given you the definite idea that the Government is endeavoring to assist the manufacturer who wishes to export," said Dr. Pratt when he had finished his demonstration. "I hope that I have shown you that the Government's desire in this matter has taken a practical turn and that the things we are doing to promote foreign trade are such as will produce definite and satisfactory results. Above everything else, the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is trying to make itself useful, and it can make itself useful to the community only if the community makes known what it wants. We need your assistance and your criticism."

LAST JURY CASE AT EXETER STARTS

Exeter, June 15.—The last jury case in Exeter for the May term of the Rockingham county superior court was commenced this morning and next Monday the jury will be transferred to Portsmouth to hear Portsmouth cases.

The action started this morning was that of John P. Blake of Kensington against Charles M. Evans of Portsmouth, which is based on an alleged deceit in a horse trade. The plaintiff is represented by Judge H. A. Shute of the firm of Shute and Shute of Exeter and the defendant by John L. Mitchell of the firm of Page, Bartlett and Mitchell of Portsmouth.

The foreman of the jury is Walter B. Scott of Deerfield.

Impossible to manufacture such an article to sell at a lower price. One American manufacturer has done it, however, and a buckaw of better quality, of stronger material, and of better design, sells wholesale at only 35 cents.

Three hay knives were also exhibited—one of German manufacture, one of English manufacture, and one of American manufacture. The English made knife weighed 3 1/2 pounds, was of very crude design and sold wholesale at $1.33; the German-made knife was very cumbersome, weighing 10 pounds, wholesaled at $1.55; the American-made knife, which was not only better constructed but a more efficient tool, weighed only 4 pounds and sold at wholesale for $1.30 per dozen.

"I hope that I have given you the definite idea that the Government is endeavoring to assist the manufacturer who wishes to export," said Dr. Pratt when he had finished his demonstration. "I hope that I have shown you that the Government's desire in this matter has taken a practical turn and that the things we are doing to promote foreign trade are such as will produce definite and satisfactory results. Above everything else, the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is trying to make itself useful, and it can make itself useful to the community only if the community makes known what it wants. We need your assistance and your criticism."

SIEGE OF HUGHES BY FAVOR SEEKERS ON IN FULL SWING

BUSY MEETING THOSE WHO WANT SOMETHING—EITHER TO HELP OR BE HELPED

New York, June 15.—Continuation of the hard work of conferring constantly with persons who want to do things for him, and the harder work of talking to persons who want him to do things for them, marked the start of the day for Charles Evans Hughes, Republican presidential candidate.

When he finished with the telegrams and mail a crowd of callers was on hand. One by one they filed in, made their pledge of request and filed out.

Strategy rather than immediate action is now the watch word at the headquarters when the rampant Bull Moose party is spoken of. The Hughes men are inclined to let Roosevelt and his fellows of the Moose herd, Hiram Johnson, Robins, Murdoch, et al, talk things over for a while before the struggle to bring them into camp starts.

Hughes attended a performance of "Justice," a prison reform play last night. He with two friends and a plain clothes man strolled in a half hour late. They were escorted to a box without being noticed by the audience. There was no demonstration.

The anti-hyphen address of President Wilson yesterday failed to disturb the placid standing on that question which Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate, has maintained since his nomination.

He is not talking politics for publication, but indications are that he will have a mighty blast when he officially accepts the nomination.

Hughes will slip out of New York tomorrow to be away over Sunday, returning Monday morning to continue his work preliminary to the real campaign. He has not said yet whether it will be a front porch campaign or a campaign of many observation car speeches.

CONFLICTING REPORTS OF CZERNOWITZ SITUATION

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, June 15.—Austrian troops in Bukovina are making a stand north of Czernowitz, capital of the crownland, and also are holding the Russians to the east of the city. The repulse of Russian attacks from both these directions is announced in the official headquarters statement from Vienna issued under date of June 14. The statement follows:

South of Boyan and North of Czernowitz Russian attacks were repulsed. "Further to the east and south of the Pripiet, there have been no special events. The situation is unchanged. "North of Baranovitch yesterday morning German and Austro-Hungarian troops were exposed to Russian artillery fire of the heaviest character, the evening the enemy attacked, but was repulsed everywhere, without exception. The enemy's artillery finally fired into the retreating Russian masses."

Austrians Quit Lemberg
Petrograd, via London, June 15.—Russia's most successful operation of the war is being pressed vigorously along the whole front in Volhynia and in Bukovina. Having cut the railway communication of Czernowitz from the north the Russians have carried the fighting for possession of that city into its very outskirts. Its fall is momentarily expected.

At the same time the extreme right flank of General Brusiloff's forces is swinging out toward Kovel, an important railway junction controlling communication to Lemberg from the north. The Russians, approaching Kovel from the southwest along the Rayno-Kovel railway, have reached the Stokhod river, twenty miles from Kovel. Southward of Kovel they have pushed a wedge westward to Torchin in the direction of Vladimir-Volynski.

This piercing of the Austrian line places the right flank of Prince Leopold's army in a precarious situation. A particularly stubborn defense is being made by the enemy in the Kovel district advanced positions.

At many intermediate points between the northern and southern points of contact the Austrians are reported to be retreating so hastily that they are out of touch with the Russians.

It is rumored that the Austrians are evacuating Lemberg.

The ease practiced by the Russians at the beginning of the present operations is described as follows:

How Russians Tricked the Austrians
The Russians opened with severe cannon fire which continued for several hours and then suddenly ceased. The Austrians from past experience expected an attack which they prepared to meet, advancing machine guns and bomb-throwers, bringing up troops and even preparing cavalry for a charge. These preparations were watched by Russian observers.

When the stage was properly set, instead of the expected advance the Russians let loose another shower of shells much more violent than of the previous ones, causing terrible slaughter and demoralization in the opposing ranks, on the heels of which they began a forward movement.

The small number of commanding officers captured in proportion to the number of soldiers is attributed by military experts to the confusion existing in the Austrian armies due to the suddenness and energy of the Russian drive. It shows, it is argued, that the officers lost control of the men and abandoned them to their fate at critical moments.

"Reports which have been received state that the enemy abandoned at certain points quantities of various war materials of such bulk as to make it impossible to give an exact description at such short notice, as an instance, we found abandoned sufficient rails for field railways to cover about twenty miles.

"Many of the enemy units are completely disorganized, judging by the fact that in the fighting from June 5 to 11 General Stecherbachoff in a comparatively insignificant section captured 414 officers, 17,000 soldiers, 29 guns, 34 machine guns, 56 caissons and other booty.

"On the Vladimir-Volynski road the enemy displays stubborn resistance, the battles continue west of the village of Zaturze, half way between Lutsk and Vladimir-Volynski.

"In the region of Zaturze the Cossacks made a brilliant charge with the sabre against an enemy squadron.

"West of Dubna our troops pushed the enemy before the village of Demitovka and southwest of Dubna captured the village of Kozine. North of the line of the Stripa, the enemy tried powerful counter attacks. In the fighting yesterday our troops crowded the enemy back and occupied the heights on the west bank of the Stripa.

"South of the Dniester we occupied the town of Snitayn, northwest of Czernowitz. Fighting for the possession of the Czernowitz bridgehead continues.

"On the Dniester front the Germans violently bombarded the Ikskull bridgehead. South of Smorgon we repulsed an enemy attempt to approach our positions. In the region of Burnovitch and southward to the Polist region there were several engagements yesterday with considerable enemy forces.

"Caucasus front.—In the direction of Bagdad we stopped an offensive by important enemy forces."

Russian "Coup" in Baltic

London, June 15.—A "Reuter" despatch from Nykoping, Sweden, gives a report of a naval engagement in the Baltic between midnight and one o'clock this morning. It is supposed that German armed trawlers which were seen going northward last night were engaged.

Two hundred shots were heard. The fight lasted for forty-five minutes. A German trawler with five wounded men entered port this morning. All information was refused here.

Describing the fight, the Copenhagen Dagens Nyheder says that the Russian squadron won an important victory. The Russians had six destroyers and several submarines and were going at such speed that the Germans were taken completely by surprise and fired only one shot, then making for port in the utmost haste.

"It is believed," says the paper, "that twelve merchantmen were sunk, while a German armed trawler which arrived at Nykoping, had 150 men aboard from a German destroyer that had been sent to the bottom. The German auxiliary cruiser was the Konig Von Sachsen, which was also seen to sink and it is supposed that all of her crew were drowned."

"The Dagens Nyheder names the following ten German steamers as having been lost in the attack of the Russian squadron: Norma, Umely Arda, Mecklenburg, Iselle, Ulla, Detero, Weser, Konsul Schulze and Algebra.

POLICE COURT.

A party of Hebrew junk men, cattle dealers, etc., met on Water street on Thursday where they opened up a friendly conversation about the price of beef on the hoof, the prospects in the rag and iron market. The gathering happened to be in front of a billboard on which was a picture of a big graffe of the Barnum & Bailey Circus. The story has it that Wolf Weinstein sold jokingly that Jacob Doctor, a cattle dealer, looked like the poster on the board. Jacob objected to being classed with any of Barnum's long necked quadrupeds and the result was they mixed it up right there and then. In the row Wolf claims that Jake took the offence with a claw hammer and that he threw the nail driving instrument at him, striking him in the middle of the back.

Jake, Wolf and the hammer, and several witnesses were in court today when Wolf charged Jake with an assault. Jake told the court that he did not wing the junkman with the hammer, that he simply removed it from the wagon of Weinstein to that of another junk dealer for a joke. Wolf still claimed that he was injured and that the cattle man touched him with an iron implement somewhere between the neck and the lower part of the spine. During the testimony it was brought out that Wolf later in the day went to see a doctor about his injuries and came back to the other doctor about the hammering. He wanted $10.00 to cover lawyer's fees, personal injuries and medical aid. Jacob Doctor said he had no money for the medical doctor and consequently the defendant Doctor was waived into court.

After the witnesses told what they had seen and heard on both sides, Judge Tuppitt could not see where he could help Weinstein to collect from one Doctor to pay another doctor and he discharged the cattle man.
